

CignaLinks

CignaLinks is a special partnership Cigna has created with local providers and insurers in certain areas of the world. This partnership makes getting and paying for care more streamlined and even provides members with additional cost savings through special negotiated rates. You can use providers who are not participating in CignaLinks; however, your reimbursement is generally higher when using CignaLinks providers.

You don't need to do anything, but you should know that if you're in a work location with the CignaLinks partnership, you may receive a second ID card along with the standard Cigna ID card that all other participants receive. Just be sure to always carry both cards, but only show your CignaLinks card when you receive medical services from a CignaLinks provider outside the United States.
