

supporting jack

how rethink empowers a dad to provide extra support in a time of challenge

Jack is struggling with school.

Tom has a 12 year old son, Jack, who is struggling to start and stay focused on homework after school. His teacher reports he has difficulty paying attention in class and it is becoming more apparent at home as well. Jack does not have a diagnosed learning disability, but Tom is still afraid that Jack's grades will fall as he gets further into middle and high school.

Online printable visual supports

Tom takes advantage of the hundreds of visual supports and printable resources Rethink has to offer. Tom downloads homework schedules and token boards to help Jack organize himself and stay motivated for homework time.

Online Educational Webinar

Online webinar available through Rethink helps Tom learn about positive reinforcement strategies for Jack.

Rethink Consultation

Tom schedules teleconsultations with Rethink to discuss how these supports are going, troubleshoot, and gain additional strategies from a behavioral health expert.
