where's my wellness credit?

human energy. yours.™

The 2019 Wellness Credit is a premium reduction of up to $750 annually on qualifying Chevron-sponsored medical plan coverage premiums from January 1, 2019 through December 31, 2019.

you don't need to report completion

If you complete 1,000 points by the deadline, October 26, 2018, you don't need to do anything to report completion for the Wellness Credit. However, you are encouraged to save the confirmation number on your WebMD Rewards Lobby completion screen for future reference.

In November, the HR Service Center will conduct a verification process with WebMD to determine if the Wellness Credit applies to you. If it's verified that you qualified for the medical premium reduction, you'll receive an updated confirmation of elections from the HR Service Center that reflects the monthly amount your medical premium will be reduced. The new BenefitConnect website will also be updated at that time.

what to expect on the benefitconnect website

During open enrollment, the BenefitConnect website will display monthly medical plan rates that assume you have not completed the activities required to obtain the premium reduction, even if you've already earned the required points. This means the row for Wellness Credit will display as Wellness Credit — Pending Eligibility during open enrollment and until the November verification process with WebMD is complete.
