new process for requesting time off for the bonding benefit

The Bonding Benefit, which is part of the Short-Term Disability (STD) Plan, provides paid time off for mothers and fathers to bond with their child within one year of the birth, adoption or placement for adoption or foster care.

Effective October 1, 2019, you must apply to receive the Bonding Benefit by first notifying your supervisor at least 30 days in advance when the need for time off is foreseeable. When 30 days' notice is not possible, you should request the time off as soon as practicable. After you notify your supervisor, you must follow the Disability Management process to report your absence, including submitting supporting documentation.

This communication provides only certain highlights about changes of benefit provisions. It is not intended to be a complete explanation. If there are any discrepancies between this communication and the legal plan documents, the legal plan documents will prevail to the extent permitted by law. There are no vested rights with respect to Chevron health care plans or any company contributions towards the cost of such health care plans. Rather, Chevron Corporation reserves all rights, for any reason and at any time, to amend, change or terminate these plans or to change or eliminate the company contribution toward the cost of such plans. Such amendments, changes, terminations or eliminations may be applicable without regard to whether someone previously terminated employment with Chevron or previously was subject to a grandfathering provision. Some benefit plans and policies described in this document may be subject to collective bargaining and, therefore, may not apply to union-represented employees.
